

Raskosova A.V. Professional Culture of Political Scientist and Contradictions of its Formation at the University // Scientific Notes of Crimea Federal V. I. Vernadsky University. Philosophy. Political science. Culturology. – 2015. – Vol. 1 (67). – № 4. – P. 105-112.

This article is devoted to the professional culture of the political scientist and contradictions of its formation at the university. Political science is a comparatively young science, so it has many fields which have not studied yet. A large experience has accumulated in both public and international affairs for many centuries and history has developed, so such profession as a political scientist has appeared for research of political situations, for explore of world events and for the preparation of analyzes and forecasts of political developments. Of course, politicians have been much earlier, but called them anyway: philosophers, thinkers, etc. Today they are a qualified analysts, experts and political consultants, technologists, journalists, etc. Profession of political scientist and the study of its professional culture are actual today. There is a need to study the policy in general and its various manifestations in particular. Profession of political scientist is becoming more and more popular in our society and the state. But often we are faced with non-professionals, who are far from professional ethics and culture, but the future development of the state and all of its components depends on the professionalism of the political scientist.

Key words: political science, political education, political culture, professional culture of political scientist, professional standards, contradictions.

References

1. Ninyuk I. Professional Culture as the Unity of Professionalism and Culture of Human Activity // Herald of the UAGP. – 2003. – №1. – P.91-94; Panarin L. Russian Political Culture: Forecasts for the XXI Century // Power. – 1997. – №11. – P.44-49; Sokolova G.N. Labour Sociology: Textbook / G.N. Sokolova. – High School. – 2002. – P. 316; Soloviev A. Culture of the Russian elite: the Temptation of Constitutionalism // Political Thought. – 1999. – №1-2. – P.28-52; Tikhomirov V.B.

Professionalism of Political Scientist: Analysis, Decision-Making, Event Management // Socio-Political Magazine. – 1993. - №3. – P.123-128; Shcherbinin A.I. Political Education: Textbook / A.I. Scherbinin. – P. : All the World. – 2005. – P. 288.

1. Kovalenko V.I. Political Science and Political Education in Russia and the Moscow University // Moscow University Herald / Series 12. – Political Science. – 2009. – №1. – P. 4-9.

2. Shestopal E.B. Russian Political Scientists in the European Context // Herald of the Moscow University, Series 12. Political Science. – 2008. – №6. – P. 71-74.

3. Ivanenko E.S., Kuzmin P.V. Political Scientist Profession. – Simferopol, 1999. – P.70.

4. Federal State Educational Standard of Higher Education in the Direction of Preparation 030200 Political Science (Qualification (Degree) "Bachelor") // Herald of Moscow University / Series 12. Political. Sciences. – 2011. – №2.