

SUMMARY

Gabrielyan O. Theory and Practice of Civil Society in Ukraine Forming // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 3-15.

Main idea of article is to analyze the real stage of civil society in Ukraine building. Author suggested to study not utopian ideas, but practice of civil society building in Western civilization practice. Try to understand opportunities of civil society in Ukraine building and development.

Key words: civil society, democracy, ideal type, Western civilization, Western society.

Chemshit A. Policy of Nation Integration as Factor in Civil Society in Ukraine Forming // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 16-26.

Causes of modernization syndrome in Ukraine have been explored. It was showed, that on contemporary stage of political development for preservation of democracy character of political system of the state policy of Nation integration is needed. Strategic and tactic aspects of social environment building have been presented with the main goal of civil society institutions forming.

Key words: modernization syndrome, political system, democracy, nation integration, civil society.

Lagutin A. Political Process as an Instrument of Civil Society Building (Ukrainian Experience) // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 27-36.

Author understood forming of civil society institutes as main ground establishing and building of modern democratic state. The main goal of the article is analysis of political process influence to civil society.

Key words: civil society, political process, democracy, political elite.

Sviatovets O. Features of Public Sphere in Civil Society // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 37-44.

Public sphere is seen as one of the autonomous field, as space, where civil thinking have been “born and crystallized”. To correlate the election with both political and public sphere we need to identify civil society and politics.

Key words: public sphere, civil society, election, advertisement, power.

Arudov M. Dialogue of Society and Power or Search of Civil Concord // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 45-55.

Possibility of dialogue between society and power have been examined in the article. In idea of author policy of multiculturalism is special tool of dialogue with orientation to achieving of civil concord in socio-cultural pluralism environment.

Key words: society, power, civil concord, multiculturalism, sociocultural pluralism.

Lopushansky I. Civil Society in Post-Soviet Russia: Cradle, Reality, and Perspective // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 56-63.

Analysis of stages in forming of definition “civil society” in post-Soviet Russia have been presented by the author. Roots, reality, and perspective of civil society in Russia have been discussed.

Key words: civil society, state, law, liberalism, power.

Tihomirova E. State and Civic Society in Ideology of Modern Globalism and Alterglobalism // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 64-72.

Article deals with problems of state and forming the civil society in the context of intensification of interrelations and interdependences between states and societies under conditions of global progress. Author analyzes different approaches peculiar to globalism and alterglobalism about questions of political development and civic society.

In author's opinion, alterglobalistic conceptions of state and civil society differ not only from interpretation of globalists, but also from present ideologies which are opposite to capitalism. Alterglobalists do not offer creation of different ideo-political system. They aspire to build global civic society as counterweight for global political structures, and not their change.

Key words: state, civic society, globalization, alterglobalism.

Shorkin A. Conditions of Society and Power Dialogue // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 73-79.

Conditions of dialogue between society and power have been described. Author affirms that existence of dialogue we need certain communicative conditions.

Key words: society, power, dialogue, communication, democracy.

Turkina I. Role and Place of Constitutional Model in Political System of Democratic Society // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 80-87.

Author has defined role and place of constitutional model in political system of democratic society.

Key words: state, political system, democratic society, Constitution.

Zaprudsky Y. Nature of Political: Contradiction and Conflict of Political Power // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 88-95.

Nature of Political have been presented in the article. Typology and functions of the Nature and phenomenon of the Existence have been identified.

Key words: political regimes, conflict, power, society

Kuzmin N. Interaction of Power and Society Typology: Traditional Culture, Modern, and Postmodern // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 96-103.

Empiric forms in interaction of power and society have been discussed in the article. Author underlined its diversity.

Key words: power, society, traditional culture, Modern.

Primyshev I. Development of Forms of a Dialog Between Authority and People as a Factor of Socio-Economic Development of the Region // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 104-112.

Has been researched an opportunity of establishing a dialog between authorities and community including opposition under conditions of forming of democratic society. Has been reflected legal ensuring of proper services and manpower policy in respect of public relations of authorities. Have been given examples of forms and methods of public relations of authorities in the Autonomous Republic of Crimea.

Key words: democracy, dialogue, society, power, "public relations".

Leukhina A. Factors Which Influence Interaction Between Community Unions and Power Bodies // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 113-120.

This article explores NGO and state agencies; institutional capacities as factors, which influence interactions between them. The main hypothesis of this research, later confirmed by the author is as following: Institutional capacities of state agencies and NGOs have a significant influence on their capability to cooperate effectively and constructively. The author analyzes the existing level of interaction between NGOs and state authorities in Ukraine, looks at main components of institutional interaction and provides analysis of institutional capacities of both parties, which influence establishment of cooperation between them.

Key words: society, community union, power.

Cherepenko A. The Development of Interactions Between Society and the State in Contemporary Ukraine in the Frame of Dictatorial Historical Tradition // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 121-128.

The article is about the co-operation between the society and the power in Ukraine within the limits of the conduct models being traditional for this political system. The models of political conduct (both masses and elites) lean against the practices of the functioning of the dictatorial political systems. The last one – Soviet - existed on the basis of the institutions of democracy. An emphasis laid on the dialogue between the power and the society in Ukraine that could be possible only in the case of working out of the new practices of the functioning of democratic institutions.

Key words: society, power, political system, democracy, democratic institutes.

Filatov A. Political Reform: the Ukrainian Variant // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 129-135.

In article problems of reforming of political system of the Ukrainian society are considered, the analysis of functioning of an executive branch of authority contains. The author suggests to classify political parties on the basis of their functional attributes. He correlates concepts of political reform and selective reform. As a whole process of political reforming in conditions of a transit society is characterized in view of democratic values and a condition of a civil society.

Key words: authority, a civil society, a democratic society, an electoral system, political reform, political party.

Smiy A. External Factor of Democracy Political System in Ukraine Functioning // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 136-145.

External factor in forming of Ukrainian democratic political system as unit of political analysis have been described in the article. Analyzing theory and methodology tools in optimizing of internal and external interaction factor of political development.

Key words: democracy, political system, political development, political analysis.

Naumkina S. Tendency and Perspective of Party and Political Sphere Development in Ukraine // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 146-153.

Author analyzed party system of Ukraine, with great deal to conditions and factors of its building and development.

Key words: party system, party political system, civil society, power.

Degterenko A., Bulyk M. Political Programs as Factor of Influence to Society on Example of Election to Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine in 2002 in Mariupol // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 154-162.

Political programs as factor of influence to society during election campaign have been presented in the article. In case to understand feature of political program forming in Ukraine, author analyzed its specific, goals and functions.

Key words: political program, election campaign, political parties, election, society.

Starysh O. Social Consciousness in Contest of Globalization: Genesis, Stay, and Perspectives // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 163-170.

Changes in social consciousness in the light of globalization have been described in the article. All changes have been formed with consideration of political, economic, and social factors.
Key words: social consciousness, globalization, civilization, oicumena, informatization.

Tsykurenko S. Crimean Tatar Integration in Ukrainian Society: Basic Achievements and Problems // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 171-179.

Analysis of basic tendencies of Crimean Tatar integration to Ukrainian and Crimean society has been presented in the article. For years of Independence positive results have been achieved, but in same time because of difficulties and antipathy integration process faces with series of problems. Author has identified politico-legal, socio-economic, and also security problem.
Key words: integration, Crimean society, security, state, ethnic minority.

Shulga M. Geopolitical Stage of Eurasia Concept // Uchenye zapiski TNU, Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 189-200.

Concepts of astonished representatives of Eurasia geopolitical theory, such as P. Savitsky, N. Trubeckoy, A. Kasewetter, have been analyzed in the article. Author understand Eurasia concept as a base for socio-political thought in Russia, in general, and for geopolitical school, particularly.
Key words: Eurasia, geopolitics, Russia.

Gorenkin V. Global Tendencies in Regionalism Development // Uchenye zapiski TNU. Series: Political Science, 2004. – Vol. 17 (56). #2. – P. 201-206.

Series of World political order models have been presented in the article. Author in analyzing of different concepts (civilization, postindustrial, liberal-democracy) identified global tendencies of regionalism development.
Key words: regionalism, civilization, postindustrial society, state, nation.